Dominik Mersch Gallery has announced a new initiative, the Dominik Mersch Gallery Curator Award.

The award aims to give aspiring and emerging curators a platform for their early work, as well as the opportunity to experience first-hand curating in a commercial gallery context.

The Sydney-based gallery sees this award as "an opportunity for entering curators to explore the galleries existing idiosyncratic themes while encouraging them to express their unique narrative style".

Judging the applications will be gallery director Dominik Mersch and independent curator and artistic director of Art Month 2015 Glen Barkley.

The winning curator will be awarded a show with Dominik Mersch Gallery in 2015.
